This lab will introduce you to understanding and applying two methods to obtain good segmentation results on difficult images.

Learning Objectives

1. Applying adaptive thresholding on images, in order to better segment images
2. Finding a segmentation of images by first finding image edges